SOYBEANS SHARPLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybeans traded sharply higher across the nation during the holiday shortened week ended July 2. Hot, dry weather cut pasturage and threatened wheat and feed grain crops. Mexico and European buyers stepped up the pace of soybean, soybean meal, oil, and grain purchases. A cut back in Argentine soybean production and larger domestic use forecast added strength.

WHEAT:

In spite of the large planted acreage wheat markets responded to record high temperatures and drought conditions in several areas to move sharply higher. Early week hedge pressure disappeared as concern grew over the heat and drought. Good flour mill buying added support. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat moved up 6 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat went up 20 cents. Dry conditions in the upper midwest increased buyers concern for high protein wheat. Portland soft white wheat traded 6 cents higher, but this remains 87 cents below last season.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets responded to hot, dry weather and moved strongly upward. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn advanced 15 cents. Kansas City white corn markets dull due to lack of offerings and the price held at $5.80 for rail cars.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Growing concern over hot, dry weather raised the Minneapolis bid 1-2 cents. Barley markets responded to the weather conditions and to increased export buying interest to move higher. Minneapolis belt malting barley advanced 25-35 cents. Los Angeles feed barley ranged 5 cents higher, up 24 cents over last season.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets responded to adverse weather affecting feed grain crops to move sharply higher. Kansas City yellow sorghum traded 36 cents higher. Texas High Plains sorghum went up 20-25 cents.

SOYBEANS:

Reduced U.S. plantings, a short Argentine crop coupled with Argentine forecast for increased domestic usage and hot dry weather furnished most of the strength. A pick up in export sales to Mexico and Europe contributed support. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans went up 51 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 10 cents. Duluth sunflower seed price rose 80 cents.

WEATHER DOMINATES MARKETS

HIGHLIGHTS:

Weather dominated wheat and other grain trading across the nation during the week ended July 10. Fairly good export demand contributed strength.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed mixed as the record winter wheat crop harvest neared completion in Kansas, but hot-dry weather continues to cause deterioration of northern spring and durum wheat in the upper midwest and Canada. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 9 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat fell 18 cents under pressure of the first new crop arrivals. Current soft red winter wheat market is 39 cents lower than comparable date last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat eased 4 cents lower. Medium milling quality hard amber durum wheat moved up 15 - 20 cents. Portland soft white wheat traded 8 cents higher.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets reacted downward midweek to reports of rainfall but quickly rebounded as record high temperatures and less rainfall than expected contributed strength. Heavy disappearance of old crop sorghum and drought deterioration of the 1980 crop contributed strength. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn closed up 8 cents. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged. Lack of old crop offerings kept market activity dull.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets moved higher in spite of nearby new crop pressure as hot-dry weather cut crop prospects in the upper midwest. Good mill demand raised Minneapolis prices 7 - 10 cents per bushel. Barley markets moved up with other feed grains. Strong brewing interest raised Minneapolis best malting barley 15 cents. Portland feed barley closed 9 - 14 cents higher.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum prices moved higher along with cash grain markets as hot-dry weather caused crop deterioration in the southwest and world sorghum trade reached the highest level since 1976-1977 season. Argentina exports were reduced by drought to the lowest level in 8 years. Kansas City sorghum moved up 10 cents. Texas high plains market rose 19 - 20 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved sharply higher with only one day of lower prices occurring on Wednesday, as widespread showers were forecast. Rain amounts were less than expected and continued record high temperatures caused traders to bid the market higher. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans moved up 12 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed traded 15 cents higher. Duluth sunflower seed traded up 60 cents per hundred pounds.

WEEKLY
SUMMARY
AND
STATISTICS

July 18, 1980

HIGHLIGHTS:

Hot, dry weather moved wheat and feed grain markets higher across the nation during the week ended July 17. Weather stressed crops and pastures over wide areas. Drought reduced crop prospects in Canada. Additional strength came from reports of smaller than expected soybean crops in Brazil and Argentina.

WHEAT:

In spite of the record hard winter wheat production, wheat markets moved higher as total world grain crops are expected to be lowered than earlier projection. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein moved up 5 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 11 cents higher under broad demand. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat advanced with 14 percent protein trading 8 cents higher and durum wheat moved up 75 cents. Portland soft white wheat traded 12 cents higher.

CORN:

Export demand expanded due to drought damage to Canadian and Mexican grain crops. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn went up 21 cents. Kansas City white corn trade remained dull and price unchanged at 5.80 due to lack of offerings.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets firmed in spite of harvest spreading northward as demand improved. Minneapolis oats moved up 5-7 cents. Minneapolis malting barley rose 5 cents with good buying interest for fairly heavy receipts. Feed barley markets advanced 12-19 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum prices advanced sharply as hot, dry weather continued to spread over wide areas. Kansas City sorghum advanced 60 cents, and Texas High Plains market rose 50 cents per hundred pounds. Current sorghum prices are 55-75 cents over year ago level.

OILSEED:

Oilseed markets soared higher. Less competition is expected from South America as Brazil and Argentina crops were smaller than expected and Canadian crop conditions worsened. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans traded 81 cents higher. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 60 cents. Sunflower seed advanced $1.50 per hundred pounds at Duluth.

WEATHER CONTINUES TO DOMINATE MARKETS

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets continue to move in response to small changes in weather as overall dry conditions continue through the mid-section of the country. Heavy rains hit part of the dry southern area and damaged crops in the Mississippi Delta. Rains were too late to be of much benefit to corn which had already passed the fertilization stage in dry areas. Markets moved sharply higher at mid-week as Russia started buying against the fifth year agreement, but later fell sharply.

WHEAT: Wheat markets closed mixed as good flour mill and export demand kept winter wheat markets strong. Spring wheat moved lower as harvest spread into northern states. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat advanced 4 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 12 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell 14 cents. Durum wheat traded 25 - 30 cents lower as beneficial rain fell over North Dakota and Canadian wheat fields. Portland soft white wheat moved up 3 cents.

CORN: Yellow corn markets moved in wide price swings as varying weather reports affected traders ideas. Export and domestic feed demand was good all week and farm selling well regulated. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn finished down 2 cents. Kansas City white corn market remained dull and unchanged at $5.80 per bushel. Lack of offerings kept the market quiet but traders are concerned over reports of damage to the crop from hot, dry weather.

OATS AND BARLEY: New crop harvest pressured oats and barley markets lower in spite of good feeder demand. Minneapolis best malting barley moved steady to 45 cents lower. Portland feed barley eased 2 cents lower.

SORGHUM: Sorghum traded in wide price swings tending to respond to varying weather reports. At the close, basis bids dropped sharply as corn markets declined. Kansas City grain sorghum closed 12 cents lower. Texas High Plains sorghum fell 20 - 30 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Oilseed markets moved mostly lower as rain fell over parts of the soybean belt. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans dropped 72 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed moved higher due to lack of offerings and closed 15 cents higher. Duluth sunflower seed declined 70 cents per hundred pounds. The Minneapolis market responded to reports that hot, dry weather had delayed the sunflower crop to place it in danger of early frost and the market rose 40 cents per hundred pounds.

MOST GRAIN MARKETS ADVANCE ON WEATHER CONCERNS

HIGHLIGHTS:

Hot, dry weather conditions and changes in farm policy programs contributed strength to most grains across the nation for the week ended July 31. Only declines were registered in oats and barley where new crop harvest activity pressured markets. Support loans for 1980 crop were raised as production costs for farmers increased. Wheat support loans were raised 50 cents to $3.00, corn loans raised 15 cents to $2.25 and soybeans raised 52 cents to $5.02 per bushel. A special USDA drought conditions report indicated that damage has been done to corn and soybean plants due to heat and moisture stress. Flooding problems in Eastern European feed grain and oilseed crops also added strength to domestic prices.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets firmed in response to weather concerns, export activity, and changes in farm policies. At Kansas City, mill interests were limited because of congested elevator space. Kansas City ordinary wheat closed 15 cents higher, Chicago soft red winter closed 11 cents stronger and Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat advanced 10 cents. Portland soft white wheat advanced 7 cents with good export interest. Harvest activity not yet peaked, but making progress.

CORN:

Yellow corn at Chicago reacted sharply at the weeks close to post gains for the trading week. Impact reflected increased buying activity following a special USDA crop report which predicted declines in 1980 corn crop because of dry weather. Local demand was steady during the week as producers held grains tightly. Chicago yellow corn closed 9 cents higher. Kansas City white corn bids advanced 15 cents, no spot offers were available to trade but urgency for supplies was evident. Farm selling was orderly.

OATS AND BARLEY:

New crop harvest advancement pressured oats and barley and producer selling was active. Minneapolis heavy oats fell 7-8 cents per bushel and best malting barley fell 20 cents. Minneapolis feed barley held steady and Portland feed barley went down 5 cents.

SORGHUM:

Domestic sorghum trade at Kansas City was dull as yellow corn prices were more attractive. Price did increase however, reflecting rise in yellow corn markets. Kansas City grain sorghum closed 9 cents higher per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains yellow sorghum advanced 10-15 cents. Texas markets reacted to dry weather concerns, and orderly producer marketing. USDA announced a call on new agreement sorghum from the farmer owned reserve when the 5-day moving average price exceeded the $5.18 call level.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets moved sharply higher with steady demand shown for light offerings. Recent USDA special crop report indicated current stress conditions and prices soared at the week's close. Chicago yellow soybeans closed 40 cents higher. Illinois processor bids went up 40-43 cents. With steady demand for tight supplies and Minneapolis flaxseed moved 5 cents higher. Duluth, oil type, sunflower seeds responded to export tenders and weather concerns and the market gained 44 cents.

SUMMARY
STATISTICS

August 8, 1980

CASH GRAINS CLOSED MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain markets closed mixed across the nation during the week ended August 7.

Prices moved in an erratic manner influenced by weather conditions, crop production reports, and drought assessment reports. Barley, spring and white wheat markets felt pressure as harvesting progressed. Most commodities felt early week pressure as heavy producer selling was triggered by sharp increases in commodity futures the preceeding week. Heavy rain fell across corn and soybean belts but Southwestern territories remained dry and some concern was shown as new crop wheat planting nears, and subsoil moisture is insufficient for germination. Markets were unsettled at the week's close prior to private and government crop production reports. Barge tariff rates on major waterways advanced sharply because of low water levels, tight supply equipment, and congestion at major lock and dam outlets.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed lower. Prices at Kansas City weakened early in the week under heavy producer selling and did not regain losses the remainder of the week. Improved flour mill demand for low proteins evident as mills are grinding heavily. Ordinary hard wheat moved 4 cents lower. Chicago soft wheat market felt pressure from heavy receipts and limited mill interests. Soft wheat fell 9 cents. Harvest pressure weakened spring and white wheat markets. Minneapolis prices also reflected tight storage space and heavy receipts. 14% protein dark spring wheat dropped 20 cents. Portland white wheat fell 32-36 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets strengthened as rainfall came too late to benefit most stands and traders are expecting lower 1980 crop estimates to be announced next week. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn (Hopper) gained 9 cents. Milling quality white corn advanced 25 cents at Kansas City as lower quality white corn traded at a higher level and advanced the No. 2 white corn basis. User inquiry was active.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Chicago heavy oats dropped 9 cents. Harvest activity nearly completed in nearby areas.

Minneapolis oats also lower reflecting increased new crop selling. Minneapolis heavy oats fell 3 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley steady to up 10 cents. No. 2 feed barley, at Minneapolis advanced 5 cents on improved export demand. Portland feed barley declined 10 cents reflecting harvest advancement and pressure from competitive feed ingredients.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum markets closed mixed. Domestic sorghum trade at Kansas City remained dull.

Prices advanced reflecting strong yellow corn market. Kansas City sorghum up 14 cents. Texas High Plains sorghum steady to down 5 cents. Moisture contents are still high, however, concern over approaching hurricane Allen is forcing producers to cut while they can.

OILSEEDS:

Cash soybeans fluctuated wildly in an unsettled markets. Heavy producer selling early in the week dropped futures to limit down levels. Reports indicating soybeans had suffered less than other crops from heat stress also a weakening influence. Chicago yellow soybeans closed 4 cents lower. Illinois processor bids were 8-12 cents lower. Minneapolis flaxseed up 20 cents. Supplies are tight and demand is improved. Duluth oil type sunflower seed dropped 24 cents as export dealings faded.

GRAIN MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Grain prices closed mixed across the nation. Trading was irregular throughout the week.

Prices dropped early in the week but reacted to the USDA crop production report which estimated harvest declines in 1980 corn, soybeans, and sorghum. All wheat production was placed above the previous season. All wheat was estimated at 2.32 billion bushels, up 9% from year ago. Corn estimated at 6.65 billion bushels, 14% below year ago. Sorghum estimated at 5.53 million bushels, down 32% from last season. Soybeans was estimated at 1.88 billion bushels, corn 17% from 1979. Production of all feedgrains in 1980 is estimated 16% below 1979 record season. Supply and demand estimates revealed grains and oilseeds supplies will not decline as much as production because of large carryover stocks, but with continued high level of total usage, stocks will be drawn down substantially. August 1 forecast of Soviet Union wheat crop was 103 million metric tons and coarse grain estimate was 96 million tons both down from July 1 estimate. Prospective European and Asian buying interest advanced markets to midweek highs before scattered showers and more than anticipated carry-over grain figures trimmed gains.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed mixed. Cash wheat at Kansas City ended the period 3 cents weaker.

Mill interests remained good as mills were grinding near capacity levels and market replacements were needed at Eastern locations. Overhanging Kansas City wheat was extremely large total elevator stocks. Chicago soft red wheat dropped 10 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring advanced 8 cents. Mills and exporters competed aggressively for higher proteins. Portland soft white wheat closed 2-6 cents stronger with elevator space extremely tight as record harvest progresses. Embargoes have been placed against congested terminals. Highlights in wheat market was the announcement of Soviet Union purchase under the fifth and final year of the 5-year agreement. Soviet Union purchased 350,000 metric tons of wheat.

CORN:

Corn prices seesawed. Yellow corn prices dropped early in the week as needed rain fell across the midwest. Purchases of 700,000 metric tons by the Soviet Union and strengthened ideas revealing crop damage to corn crop pushed prices higher at mid-week. Larger than anticipated carry-over stocks and receipt of additional moisture contributed to the weaker trend the remainder of the period. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn (hopper cars) closed 5 cents lower. Milling quality white corn at Kansas City traded at an all time record, and user inquiry was active.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Minneapolis heavy oats recovered early losses as mill demand improved. Prices closed 1-3 cents higher. Minneapolis best malting barley closed unchanged to 10 cents stronger. Malster storage space is becoming tight. No. 2 feed barley, at Minneapolis, held steady with export interests still good. Portland feed barley posted a 7 cent loss. Adequate nearby supply and weaker corn values weakened northwest barley markets.

SORGHUM:

Domestic sorghum markets closed lower reflecting weaker yellow corn market and lack of strong buyer demand. Country movement remained very slow. Kansas City market closed 13 cents lower per hundred pounds. Export demand was active as merchants scrambled to acquire needs for previous contracts. Sorghum crop in many producing states have been hurt severely by heat and moisture stress. Texas High Plains sorghum closed steady to 5 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets fell as needed rainfall over the upper midwest was beneficial to new crop stands. Highlight of midweek strength reflected Asian buying interests. Producer selling was brisk as flat prices reached midweek highs. Chicago yellow soybeans closed 19 cents weaker. Illinois processor soybeans closed 9-11 cents weaker. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady in tight supply. Duluth oil type sunflower seeds dropped 40 cents.

HIGHLIGHTS:

For the trading week ending August 21, grain markets closed mixed across the nation in featureless trade. Lack of fresh direction held prices to narrow ranges in all grains except soybeans. Underlying support for wheat, corn, soybeans, and sorghum was evident because of the upcoming export tenders, but congestion of pipelines at Gulf and Pacific ports reduced heavy buying interest. Rainfall improved soil moisture conditions across the midwest, but additional subsoil moisture is needed to ensure viable seedbeds for next year's plantings. In other grain news, USDA announced that 1980-81 ending stocks of U.S. feedgrains would be 40% below last year's level, the lowest level in several years. Also, it was announced that wheat producers would not have to idle any cropland to qualify for Federal 1981 wheat price supports.

WHEAT:

Most wheat markets closed weaker. Cash wheat at Kansas City closed lower in light trade. Mill grind was active but congested elevator space inhibited buying by most mills. Large elevator stocks continue to press cash prices. Kansas City ordinary wheat closed 3 cents lower. Chicago soft red wheat dropped 1 cent with ongoing strikes affecting cash markets. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat closed 1 cent weaker. Portland soft white wheat closed steady to 6 cents stronger. Soft white wheat harvest activity continued to make progress and large amounts of wheat was being stored outside because of insufficient storage space at elevators.

CORN:

Cash corn markets showed strength as large upcoming export tenders and good producer marketing provided price support. USDA's decline in carryover feedgrain for the year also supportive to prices. Chicago yellow corn (hopper) closed up 9 cents. Milling quality white corn traded at another record at Kansas City.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets were mixed. Stronger futures contributed to the price advance as oats followed price movements of corn. Minneapolis oats closed lower reflecting lack of export business and tight storage space which inhibited buying interests. Minneapolis oats closed 3-6 cents weaker. Minneapolis malting barley held steady to 5 cents stronger as reduced producer and country selling offset lack of malster interests. Feed barley, at Minneapolis, dropped 5 cents. Portland feed barley dropped 7-14 cents. Barley declines reflected strong competition with wheat as cheaper feedgrain source.

SORGHUM:

Domestic sorghum markets closed stronger reflecting stronger yellow corn market and well managed producer selling of grain. Upcoming export tenders also added strength. Kansas City sorghum closed 3 cents higher. Some new crop harvest activity reported in southeastern Missouri, and so far, yields have been disappointing. Texas High Plains sorghum advanced 5 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets traded in wide fluctuation during the week and posted gains for the closing period. Downward pressure was felt from recent rains and milder temperatures which have improved growing conditions. Threat of strikes around Chicago area curtailed buying bids. Extremely light producer marketing caused processors to strengthen bids. Lower barge freight rates and good processor demand strengthened Illinois river and gulf market. Chicago yellow soybeans closed 2 cents stronger. Illinois processor bids were at a premium and closed 5-6 cents higher. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady in tight supply, this is 50 cents above year ago market. Duluth oil type sunflower seeds dropped 45 cents as light export interest and good crop prospects pressured the market. New crop bids were sharply lower.

WEEKLY
STATISTICS

August 29, 1980

MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets traded in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended August 28. Poor quality grain moving to market depressed prices. Congestion of shipping and storage facilities also a deterrent to trade. Contributing strength was: threat of early frost damage to crops in the upper Midwest. Weather damage to spring wheat, corn, sorghum, and soybeans, strong flour mill demand for milling quality wheat and a large potential export demand.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets closed mixed as congested storage and shipping facilities hampered movement. Mill demand remained good for the better grades of wheat. Large quantities of weather damaged wheat moving the the upper Midwest depressed spring wheat prices. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed up 2 cents per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat eased 5 cents lower. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat dropped 13 cents. Medium milling quality hard amber durum wheat fell 45 cents. Portland soft white wheat advanced 3-5 cents as harvest neared completion.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets responded to reports of increased damage by hot, dry weather. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn price moved up 4 cents. Scarce offerings of white corn traded at steady prices.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets remained firm in spite of dull trade. The Minneapolis oat market closed 3 cents higher. Minneapolis malting barley traded actively 15-25 cents higher. Feed barley markets moved in a mixed price trend with the Portland price up 4-5 cents, but the Stockton market eased 2-5 cents lower.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum Markets tended to follow corn markets in dull trade. Kansas City multi-car sorghum went up 3 cents per hundred pounds. Texas high plains market held unchanged.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets responded to reports of weather damage and the threat of early frost in northern areas to post sharply higher closing prices. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans traded up 7 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 10 cents. Minneapolis sunflower seed moved up 30 cents as early frost damage was feared.

MARKETS MOSTLY STRONGER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly stronger across the nation during the holiday shortened week ended September 4. Part of early week gains were lost on Wednesday and Thursday as farm selling and hedging at terminal markets caused basis bids to erode. Weather continued to play an important role in shaping markets as Russia and Europe received too much rain. Canada had damaging frost and much of the rest of the world grain production areas showed some drought damage. Congested elevators and lack of adequate transportation to keep grain moving was a deterrent to trade.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets turned mostly stronger as all facets of the trade bought heavily. Flour mills bought to cover flour sales for 60 to 90 days ahead. Kansas City hard red winter wheat advanced 7 cents for ordinary protein. Kansas City 13% protein hard red wheat traded 13 cents higher. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 14 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat advanced sharply with most advance for higher protein wheat as much of the northern states spring wheat has shown sprout damage. Minneapolis 14% protein dark northern spring moved up 14 cents but hard amber durum held unchanged. Portland soft white wheat market declined 3 cents as a record crop moved into tight storage with some wheat expected to be piled on the ground.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets firmed as the new crop continued to show deterioration in some areas. Export interest remains strong. Timely rains improved pasture conditions over much of the nation and this restricted domestic feed buying for nearby shipment. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars advanced 5 cents. Milling quality white corn offerings remain extremely tight and the market rose 15 cents at Kansas City.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Good buying interest kept oats markets strong in spite of harvest pressure. Minneapolis market rose 8-13 cents. Slowed farm selling firmed barley markets with best malting kinds at Minneapolis up 10 cents and feed grade 5 cents higher. Stockton feed barley moved steady to 2 cents higher.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade was dull but prices tended to follow cash corn higher. Kansas City yellow sorghum went up 6 cents per hundred pounds. Texas high plains market unchanged to 5 cents higher.

OILSEEDS:

Traders expect the crop report due next week to show reduced soybean production. This moved most oilseed markets higher. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 39 cents higher. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady. Duluth sunflower seed traded 20 cents higher while the Minneapolis market slipped 10 cents lower.

SOYBEANS STRONG-FEEDGRAINS MOSTLY LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Markets moved in a mixed trend across the nation during the week ended September 11.

Wheat and soybeans were strong, but yellow corn and sorghum markets weakened as traders moved bids toward a new crop basis. Export demand held at high levels in spite of filled pipe lines to ports as sales to foreign nations continue at a good pace. Reduction in soybean crop prospects contributed overall strength to the market.

WHEAT:

Good domestic flour business with fairly steady export sales of wheat and flour kept the market strong. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein advanced 6 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 10 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat moved mixed with lower proteins weaker under pressure of heavy offerings, but 14 percent and above proteins moved higher with 14 percent protein up 2 cents. Medium milling quality hard amber durum held steady. Portland soft white wheat advanced sharply as harvest wound down and the market finished 12-20 cents higher.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets weakened under pressure of limited storage facilities in trading centers and full pipe lines to ports. Feed demand slipped a little as pastures improved and processor buying slowed as low moisture corn delayed the wet milling process. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dropped 2 cents. Kansas City white corn held steady at $6.85.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets firmed at all markets except Portland where feed wheat usage expanded. Minneapolis oats traded 5-10 cents higher. Reduced malting barley offerings pushed the Minneapolis markets 10 cents higher. Minneapolis feed barley rose 15 cents. Portland western barley traded steady to 5 cents lower.

SORGHUM:

Slow demand and an easier yellow corn market lowered sorghum prices. Kansas City market fell 16 cents. Texas-High Plains market moved steady to 5 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

The reduced soybean crop and strong processor buying interest moved soybean markets sharply higher. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans advanced 16 cents. Illinois processor point prices rose 19-27 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 5 cents, but this is 55 cents over comparable date last year. Duluth and Minneapolis sunflower seed, showed no bids because of lack of elevator space.

Volume 28 No. 38 Washington, D.C. 20250

September 19, 1980

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feedgrains closed mixed for the week ended Sept 18. Potential export and domestic usage furnished strong support. Early in the period markets weakened under pressure of the crop report. Congested storage and filled pipelines severely restricted trade for immediate and balance of September shipment.

WHEAT: Wheat markets responded to light farm selling and heavy export loadings to move higher. Kansas City hard red winter closed 4 cents higher. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved up 4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat 14 percent protein finished 11 cents higher. Medium milling quality hard amber durum closed steady to up 35-cents with most receipts showing poor quality. Portland soft white wheat traded 6 cents higher as strong export movement furnished support. Minneapolis rye finished 5-10 cents higher.

CORN: Yellow corn markets moved generally lower as harvest tempo picked up and congestion at terminals and transportation facilities hampered movement. Chicago yellow corn declined 5 cents. White corn harvest continues slow with yields and quality below normal. Market was steady at Kansas City for milling quality.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats market at Minneapolis moved up 2-5 cents under good feed and processor demand. Minneapolis best malting barley closed steady to 5 cents higher as buying expanded to acquire stocks. Feed barley closed sharply higher with Minneapolis market up 20 cents.

SORGHUM: Sorghum closed mixed with dull demand. Price at Kansas City 8 cents lower while Texas High Plains market ranged 5-10 cents higher. Export demand slowed due to congestion at ports.

OILSEEDS: Chicago soybean bids dipped 5 cents. Illinois processor bids advanced 11-18 cents as farm offerings continue light and crusher demand is strong. Minneapolis flaxseed held unchanged. Minneapolis sunflower seed showed no nearby market activity but October bids ranged 10 cents higher.

Volume 28 No. 39 Washington, D.C. 20250

September 26, 1980

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved in a mixed price trend across the nation during the week ended September 25. Nearby demand was tempered by full storage facilities at all principal markets. Congested transportation facilities and an embargo against grain shipments to Mexico contributed weakness. Deteriorating crops in the U.S. and in other countries limited price breaks and contributed to stronger prices in spots. Good flour mill run time supported wheat markets along with high potential export in wheat and feed grains which gave the market underlying strength.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved erratically due to congested facilities. Kansas City hard red winter wheat closed higher, supported by flour mill replacement buying, continued large export movement and orderly well regulated farm selling. Ordinary protein finished up 7 cents. Chicago soft red winter eased 2 cents lower under pressure of heavy futures market liquidation and congested storage. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat closed mixed. Ordinary protein moved up 5 cents but 14% protein closed 6 cents lower. Durum wheat moved sharply higher after new export sales were made. Medium milling quality advanced 20-50 cents. Portland soft white wheat moved 7-11 cents higher.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets eased lower under pressure of spreading new crop harvest, heavy farm offerings in the upper midwest, congested storage, and transportation facilities. Price decline was limited by the potential export demand. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn slipped 1 cent lower. Kansas City white corn traded 5 cents lower, but trading remains limited by lack of farm offerings.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats market were mostly easier as full elevators limited buying interest. The Minneapolis market dropped 10 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley held unchanged. Feed grade barley markets advanced as new crop supply was down substantially from last year. Portland western barley went up 15-20 cents.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade remained dull in all areas but the southwest as most users switched to corn which is more readily available and is competitively priced. Kansas City market fell 9 cents while the Los Angeles market was steady to 2 cents lower. Texas High Plains market rose 5 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets were above last weeks close most of the period but late in the week support dried up as harvest spread and an embargo was placed against further shipments of grains and feedstuffs to Mexico until congestion is alleviated. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans dropped 10 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 15 cents as crushing plants needed supplies to fill recent export linseed meal sales. Duluth sunflower seed fell 45 cents per hundred pounds under new crop harvest pressure.

SOYBEANS SHARPLY LOWER, WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS MOSTLY LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Soybean markets fell sharply across the nation during the week ended Oct. 2. Rapidly spreading corn and soybean harvest coupled with congested terminals and lack of adequate transportation facilities furnished most of the weakness. Weaker metals markets and higher interest rates contributed some downward pressure. Toward the end of the period some relief was reported as many farmers in the upper midwest now have adequate storage to get the remainder of the crops under cover.

WHEAT:

Congested elevators and a moderate pick up in farm selling forced wheat markets lower. Good progress in planting the 1981 winter wheat crop added some pressure. Good flour mill buying to replace heavy grind tended to limit price declines as did reports of continued wet weather damaging and delaying wheat in the U.S.S.R. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein closed 8 cents lower. Chicago cash wheat bids were withdrawn due to congested storage. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell 12 cents. Medium milling quality hard amber durum closed mixed, 5 cents higher to 10 cents lower. Portland soft white wheat moved 7-8 cents lower.

CORN:

Better than seasonal average corn harvest pressure coupled with congested terminal and transportation facilities forced yellow corn markets mostly lower. Feed demand eased as rains improved pastures across the lower tier of states. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn dipped 10 cents lower. White corn offerings picked up, but movement remains light. Prices eased lower with Kansas City rail car bid 10 cents lower.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Slowed demand forced barley and oat markets lower in spite of light offerings. Minneapolis best malting barley moved steady to 10 cents lower. Portland No. 2 barley declined 4-7 cents.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade continued slow with limited buying interest in all areas except the southwest. Kansas City market fell 13 cents per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains market was firm and unchanged.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets moved mostly lower as rapidly spreading soybean harvest and tight storage added downward pressure. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 32 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 65 cents per hundred.

WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN MARKETS STRONGER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved to stronger levels across the nation during the week ended October 9. Lack of terminal storage space kept trading light. Farm selling slowed as it now appears there is adequate on farm storage to take care of the balance of the crop.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved higher as farm selling continued well regulated and flour mills competed with exporters for supplies. Kansas City hard red winter wheat advanced 7 1/2 cents. Soft red winter wheat trade remains slow at Chicago due to lack of storage space and current bid of 5 1/4 cents over comparable date last year. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 12 cents. Portland soft white wheat rose 8 cents, up 47-49 cents from last season.

CORN:

Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved 7 cents higher. White corn trade continues light, but old crop offerings traded 75 cents lower at Kansas City.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets turned stronger in spite of slow trade as stocks are short and potential business appears good. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to up 10 cents, while feed grade held steady with last week's price level. Stockton barley went up 3-4 cents and Portland western feed barley traded 12-17 cents higher in response to good export demand.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade remained light, but corn market strength and a slight pick up in demand moved markets higher. Kansas City multi-car market went up 24 cents per hundred pounds over year ago price level. Texas High Plains market rose 5 cents and the Los Angeles market advanced 17 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved sharply higher as harvest neared completion and selling pressure fell off. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 29 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 10 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed traded 20 cents higher per hundred pounds.

WEEKLY
STATISTICS

October 17, 1980

WHEAT AND FEED GRAIN MARKETS MOSTLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain prices moved mostly higher on news of reduced crop yields in the U.S., Russia, Australia, and on news of negotiations for a 3 year grain agreement with China. Tempering price advance late in the week was general rain throughout most of the winter wheat area, congestion at ports and terminal elevators, and expanded country selling on the price advance.

WHEAT:

Late in the period generous amounts of rain fell over most of the dry hard red winter wheat area and tempered price advances. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein closed up 13 cents and Chicago soft red winter wheat surged 32 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat moved 15 cents higher. Medium milling quality hard amber durum moved 15-40 cents lower due to tight storage and moderate offerings. Portland soft white wheat moved up 5-8 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets moved higher in spite of rapid harvest as farmers now generally have sufficient storage space. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn traded 4 3/4 cents higher. Kansas City milling quality white corn moved up 25 cents per bushel as mills needed stocks.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Reduced production and moderate buying interest moved oats and barley markets higher. Minneapolis oats traded 20-21 cents higher. Minneapolis best malting barley moved 10-15 cents under expanded malster buying. Feed grade barley went up 20 cents. Portland western feed barley advanced 7-9 cents.

SORGHUM:

Spreading sorghum harvest in the Midwest and slow demand tempered Kansas City sorghum market which moved up only 1 cent. Texas High Plains market rose 25 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Reduced yield prospects coupled with orderly farm selling and processor stocking for winter crush firmed soybean markets. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans ranged 12 cents higher. Minneapolis flaxseed eased 10 cents lower due to a swith in processor interest to sunflower seed. Duluth sunflower seed traded up 10 cents, but storaged space remains tight and buying interest declined as storage filled.

WEEKLY
STATISTICS

October 24, 1980

WHEAT AND FEED GRAINS STRONGER

Highlights:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved strongly upward across the nation during the week ended October 23. Most of the strength originated in the tightening of world stocks of wheat and feed grains. The signing of a four year wheat and feed grain agreement with China contributed strength at mid period. Country selling on market advances, congestion at country elevators, terminal elevators and port facilities were moderating influences.

Wheat:

Wheat markets moved strongly upward as farm marketing continued in an orderly manner. Kansas City hard red winter wheat, ordinary protein advanced 19 1/4 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 20 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 per cent protein wheat moved 27 1/2 cents higher. Medium milling quality hard amber durum ranged 25-35 cents higher as exporters competed with mills for the better quality offerings. Portland soft white wheat advanced 16 cents.

Corn:

Yellow corn markets moved up with other feed grains. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn rose 5 1/4 cents. Most other markets moved up 7-11 cents per bushel from the previous week. Kansas City white corn held at 6.20 per bushel, as old crop stocks are extremely tight and new crop production is sharply below last year.

Oats and Barley:

Oats markets moved moderately higher due to congested storage facilities. The Minneapolis markets rose 5 cents. Barley markets moved strongly higher with expanded export and strong malster buying interest and only modrate offerings. Minneapolis best malting barley rose 10-20 cents. Stockton feed barley advanced 10-17 cents.

Sorghum:

Harvest proceeded toward completion with storage space tight. Kansas City sorghum closed 15 cents higher. Texas High Plains market rose 5 cents per hundred.

Oilseeds:

Soybean markets moved sharply higher as lower U.S. crop production coupled with a smaller Russian sunflower crop prompted exporters and crushers to accumulate stocks. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybean advanced 37 1/2 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed traded 40 cents higher per hundred pounds.

MARKETS GENERALLY HIGHER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains closed generally higher across the nation during the week ended October 30. Sharp gains occurred at mid week when the U.S. feed grain production figures were revised downward along with lower figures for the Russian grain crop. Much of the price advance was taken away after weather cleared, permitting resumption of grain harvest. Profit taking and fairly large soybean deliveries against November futures contracts at Chicago added downward pressure.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved at higher prices as exporters and mills raised basis bids. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded up 4 1/4 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 11 3/4 cents as mill demand improved. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat moved slightly higher under strong mill demand and closed up 1/2 cent. Medium milling hard amber durum fell 10-20 cents. Portland soft white wheat rose 10-13 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets rose sharply under pressure of heavy export inspections and continued export sales activity. Chicago hopper car No. 2 yellow corn closed up 1 3/4 cents. Fairly heavy country selling limited the advance at Chicago, but most other markets moved sharply higher. Kansas City white corn trade continued dull and unchanged due to lack of stocks.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets closed mostly higher. The Minneapolis oat market advanced 2 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley held unchanged in spite of heavier offerings, but feed barley eased 5 cents lower. Stockton feed barley rose 5 cents.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum buying interest expanded late in the week and the market firmed. Kansas City sorghum went up 21 cents and Texas High Plains market rose 10-15 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets surged higher most of the week on reports of reduced world oilseed crop production, and good buying interest from exporters and crushers. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans finished up 25 3/4 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed market became active as crushers re-entered the market at $8.00 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed traded 60 cents higher per hundred pounds.

GRAIN MARKETS MOSTLY LOWER

HIGHLIGHTS:

Cash grain prices closed mostly lower across the nation for the shortened trade week ended November 6. Markets were stronger early in the week in reaction to political changes, which triggered active stocks and commodities markets, and in response to good export buying prospects. Cash grain selling was moderate as flat prices rose. In Thursday's trading, grain and product prices, dropped sharply lower as profit taking, increase in prime money rates, prospects of increased wheat plantings and tight storage conditions weighed upon the market. Sorghum was placed in the call status on Thursday which freed 6.6 million hundred weight of sorghum from the reserve program.

WHEAT:

Cash wheat markets closed lower at all reporting stations despite good mill demand. At Kansas City, a pick up in country selling eased demand and most interest shifted to selective protein needs. Ordinary hard winter wheat dropped 4 cents. Large soft red wheat planting estimates caused Chicago wheat market to close fractionally lower offsetting the earlier basis gains made in efforts to encourage country selling. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat dropped 4 cents. Portland soft white wheat moved 3 cents lower, but active export and mill bidding contributed a firming undertone and kept prices from falling further. Medium milling hard amber durum wheat held steady.

Corn:

Yellow corn markets weakened under pressure of tightening storage conditions and increased country and producer selling. Chicago yellow corn closed 13 cents lower. Kansas City white corn trade was dull most of the week but a late week trade of good milling quality corn strengthened prices 5 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets closed mostly higher as lack of country offerings and light, but steady, interest for good quality oats kept buyers competitive. Minneapolis oats closed steady to 2 cents stronger. Minneapolis best milling barley held strong and unchanged throughout the week. Minneapolis feed grade barley advanced 10 cents reflecting exporter needs at Duluth. Portland feed barley dropped 15-19 cents as heavy delivery of competitive feed grains weakened barley markets.

Sorghum:

Sorghum buying interest was dull most of the week. Kansas City sorghum fell 13 cents. Texas High Plains market held steady.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets closed mixed. Early week strength was attributed to good export prospectives, but rejected export tenders, moderately heavy country selling, and tightening storage conditions pressured the market. Chicago yellow soybeans fell 4 cents. Illinois processor bids closed 2 1/2-9 cents stronger. Minneapolis flaxseed market closed at $8.05 as crushers attempted to draw limited supplies from first hand positions. Duluth sunflower seed traded 60 cents higher per hundred weight.

MARKETS MIXED

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets moved in mixed price trends across the nation during the week ended November 13. Market weakness was prompted by congestion at terminal elevators and port facilities. Buying interest remained strong for domestic and export use. Feed grains felt the impact of mostly mild open weather over most of the nation until near the close when a winter storm moved into the upper midwest. Much needed moisture fell in the form of light rain and snow over most of the winter wheat belt.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets moved unevenly to close mostly lower across the country. Much needed moisture fell over most of the hard red winter wheat area. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 3 1/2 cents lower. Chicago soft red winter wheat dipped 1 3/4 cents lower. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat eased 3 1/4 cents lower. Portland soft white wheat was supported by good vessel line up in ports to move export wheat and the market held steady to 2 cents lower.

Corn:

Yellow corn closed mixed, higher in northern areas where winter weather is more pronounced and weaker in other areas as congestion at terminal elevators and port facilities caused accumulation of supplies. At Chicago, No. 2 yellow corn advanced 1/2 cent. White corn trade continued limited due to small stocks and offerings were very light. Kansas City rail milling quality white corn held steady.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Chicago heavy oats market was inactive and unchanged while at Minneapolis demand was good and price rose 2 to 4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 5 cents lower with demand good but arrivals heavy. Feed grade barley was firm to higher reflecting the reduced crop and good export demand. Minneapolis market held steady but the Portland market went up 10 cents.

Sorghum:

Sorghum harvest is about complete and the market firmed. Kansas City yellow sorghum rose 3 cents. Texas High Plains market moved 5-10 cents higher.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets moved lower in spite of good processor demand as production estimates were larger than expected and export movement has been disappointing. Export interest in bean oil expanded near the end of the period and offset some of the early week decline. Mild weather has limited feeding and this kept soybean meal markets weak. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans declined 10 1/4 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 5 cents under good processor demand. Duluth sunflower seed rose 10 cents as vessel arrival for export movement was heavy.

WEEKLY
AND
STATISTICS

November 21, 1980

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and most grain markets advanced to higher price levels across the nation during the week ended November 20. Export demand showed a little expansion with active buying in the soybean complex. Domestic feed business showed a little pick-up due to cooler temperatures and advance buying for the approaching holiday shortened week. Congestion at ports tended to regulate the market somewhat and farm selling expanded on price peaks.

WHEAT:

Flour mills were the main support for wheat markets as ports were congested and limiting export buying. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat traded 15 1/2 cents higher. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 9 1/4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 2 1/4 cents. Medium milling quality hard amber durum fell 10-25 cents under pressure of heavy offerings. Portland soft white wheat rose 2-4 cents.

Corn:

Yellow corn markets moved mostly higher in spite of heavy stocks as domestic feeding picked up a little and export interest remains fairly good. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn moved up 12 cents. Kansas City milling quality white corn market showed very little activity due to lack of offerings and the price held at $6.25 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats markets firmed mostly due to tightening supply. The Minneapolis market rose 8 cents per bushel. Heavy offerings forced Minneapolis best malting barley lower on the bottom end of the price range to close at $3.65-4.00. Portland feed barley moved 7 cents higher supported by strong export buying and tight holding at the farm level.

Sorghum:

Sorghum markets showed little activity, but prices advanced with higher cash corn prices. Kansas City yellow sorghum rose 17 cents. Texas High Plains market steady to up 10 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS:

Oilseed markets turned stronger on light farm offerings. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans traded up 61 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed moved up 25 cents under pressure of heavy crusher buying. Duluth sunflower seed traded 60 cents higher per hundred pounds.

WEEKLY
SUMMARY
AND
STATISTICS

November 28, 1980

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and soybean markets declined sharply across the nation during the holiday shortened week ended November 26. Feed grains traded mostly higher in response to record corn export movement. Terminal elevator and port congestion continues to hamper movement, but is beginning to show some relief as corn and soybean harvest reached completion in the main producing areas.

WHEAT: Wheat markets declined sharply as moisture and snow cover fell over a large part of the hard red winter wheat production areas. Liquidation in futures markets added pressure. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 13 3/4 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat dipped 21 1/2 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat traded 14 1/4 cents lower. Portland soft white wheat moved 1 cent lower to 4 cents higher.

CORN: Yellow corn markets responded to light selling and record export movement to trade up 8 1/4 cents at Chicago. Kansas City white corn continued dull due to lack of offerings and the price held unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY: Although buying was fairly slow, scarcity of supply kept oats and barley markets firm. The Minneapolis oats market closed 3-4 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis, best malting barley finished unchanged to 5 cents lower. Portland feed barley moved up 2-10 cents.

SORGHUM: Sorghum trade slowed with most interest well supplied for nearby needs. Kansas City sorghum rose 1 cent. Texas High Plains market eased 5-10 cents.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets declined sharply as domestic and export movement slowed. At the close, the market for oilseeds and oilseed products became active in Europe and the market showed partial recovery. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 21 1/2 cents lower. Minneapolis flaxseed responded to heavy crusher buying and advanced 15 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed moved 20 cents higher per hundred pounds.

WEEKLY
STATISTICS

December 5, 1980

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grains traded mostly lower across the nation during the week ending December 4. Soybeans led the downturn. Inspection for export figures totalled less than expected, higher interest rates discouraged ownership and strengthened the dollar in world trade, poor feeding margins discouraged cattle and hog feeders and congested port facilities slowed export buying.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets showed a general tendency to follow other markets lower. Mills gave support on replacement buying and exporters came back in the market at the close to replace stocks. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 9 1/4 cents. Chicago soft red winter wheat dipped 9 3/4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat finished up 3/4 cent under aggressive mill buying. Medium milling quality hard amber durum advanced 10-15 cents as exporters pushed to complete lake loadings as the shipping season neared completion. Portland soft white wheat fell 16 cents.

CORN:

Yellow corn markets fell under pressure of slowed export. Large stocks at port and in the pipelines slowed demand. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars finished 13 1/4 cents lower. Kansas City milling quality white corn was untested due to lack of offerings.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Scarcity of supply and light offerings kept oats markets strong as traders needed supplies to fill orders. The Minneapolis market rose 2-3 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley bids held firm with offerings light and demand fairly good. Feed barley is in tight supply, but the market moved mixed due to lower corn and sorghum market pressure. Portland western barley dipped 9-10 cents, but the Stockton market advanced 5 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum traded a little more actively, but fell under pressure of lower cash corn markets. Kansas City multi-car bids dropped 16 cents per hundred. Texas High Plains market traded unchanged to 5 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets declined sharply as high interest rates raised carrying cost and encouraged liquidation. Declining meal markets occurred as domestic and export buying slowed. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans closed 60 1/4 cents lower. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 15 cents per bushel as crushers attempted to draw out small remaining stocks. Duluth sunflower seed declined 10 cents and the Minneapolis market eased 5 cents per hundred.

MARKETS FALL SHARPLY

HIGHLIGHTS:

Wheat and feed grain markets fell sharply across the nation during the week ended December 11. Overwhelming the fairly good buying interest was the strong U. S. dollar, weak gold and silver markets, high interest rates which prompted liquidation in futures markets. Great Lakes shipping season drawing to a close caused congestion at elevators in the upper Midwest in spite of fairly light farm selling. Some December delivery contracts have been extended to mid-January due to the congestion. Winter wheat received much needed moisture and snow cover and this further weakened wheat market structure. Declining livestock markets contributed downward pressure at the close.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets fell sharply following large breaks in futures prices which resulted in margin calls and subsequent liquidation. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 62 cents and is now 36 1/2 cents below comparable time last year. Chicago soft red winter wheat fell 51 3/4 cents. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat dropped 41 1/4 cents but remains 25 1/2 cents above last year. Medium milling quality hard amber durum went down 40-70 cents in spite of light receipts. Portland soft white wheat declined 49 cents.

CORN:

Corn market declines were softened by large export feed grain tenders to Mexico. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars traded 10 cents lower. In spite of small stocks and light offerings Kansas City white corn, rail delivery fell 15 cents.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets fell sharply in spite of tight stocks, tending to follow other cash feed grains lower. Minneapolis oats fell 22 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley held steady as the limited demand was offset by reduced country selling. Portland western feed barley declined 24-31 cents.

SORGHUM:

Yellow sorghum markets followed cash corn lower. Kansas City No. 2 yellow sorghum fell 38 cents. Texas High Plains sorghum ranged 30-40 cents lower.

OILSEEDS:

Soybean markets broke sharply under pressure of heavy futures market liquidation. Soybean meal markets declined as feeder margins narrowed when livestock prices slid lower. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans in hopper cars dropped $1.25 1/4. Minneapolis flaxseed moved 65 cents lower. Duluth sunflower seed traded $1.60 lower.

MARKETS EXTREMELY NERVOUS

HIGHLIGHTS:

Grain markets turned extremely nervous across the nation during the week ended December 18. Traders were unsettled by record high interest rates, the edgy political situation in Poland and variable dollar and precious metals markets. Higher cost crude oil caused additional concern. Contributing to the rally strength was orderly farm selling, large grain sales to Mexico and Brazil, and traders feelings that the long range market outlook is fundamentally strong.

WHEAT:

Wheat markets rebounded in spite of reduced export inspections as farm selling is orderly and traders bought steadily and replaced stocks for milling and export. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein closed 35 3/4 cents higher. Chicago soft red winter wheat moved 37 cents higher. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat rose 39 3/4 cents. Portland soft white wheat rose 31-36 cents.

CORN:

A sharp pick up in new export sales outweighed light feed grains inspections for export and Chicago yellow corn advanced 14 3/4 cents. Kansas City white corn dropped sharply due to the slow movement and high cost of carrying stocks. The rail car market fell 80 cents.

OATS AND BARLEY:

Oats and barley markets showed little activity, but borrowed strength from other feed grain advances. Minneapolis best malting barley eased 5-10 cents lower as high interest rates and lack of storage space weighed against values. Minneapolis feed barley moved 10 cents higher and the Stockton market held steady.

SORGHUM:

Sorghum trade turned more active as export movement picked up. Kansas City yellow sorghum rose 48 cents. Texas High Plains markets rose 10-15 cents.

OILSEEDS:

Light farm selling prompted higher bids from merchandisers, exporters, and processing plants to complete December contractual agreements. Chicago No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 54 cents. Minneapolis flaxseed declined 25 cents per bushel as linseed meal market declined. Duluth sunflower seed rose 25 cents.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS will not be printed during the week of December 22 - 26.
